2009 Trails Grant

Project Title: Be Ready – Interactive Emergency Preparedness training

The North America Outdoor Institute announces that we are applying for the 2010 State of Alaska Department of Natural Resources Trails Grant to fund public emergency preparedness safety education programs across the State of Alaska.

The goal of this project is to help residents learn important skills for being prepared for any emergency or disaster. This program will include a media campaign, online website training and live community training programs designed to provide safety tips and outdoor hands-on practice sessions that teach practical, useful skills everyone that lives, plays or works outdoors in Alaska should know.

This program will include 2010 Emergency Preparedness Month activities such as safety fairs and a media campaign.
